There's More "Life" In A Regency Built Home

"They are excellent in what they do, building houses, but they are also wonderful to work with. They have gone out of their way to accommodate various Hindu religious rituals and offered their full support where ever it is needed. This often meant that they needed to modify their building process quiet a bit and be there for us at odd hours (sometimes the Muhurats for our pujas were early in the mornings and on weekends) They have provided everything we asked for, with a smile. We are totally satisfied with the whole process and with Regency in total."
